Research Pathways

Where Do
I Start?

Post-Secondary Education Pathways

What do you know?

Apprenticeship - is a combination of on-the- job training and classroom time that leads to a skill trade credential.

College - Programs provide a combination of academic and practical/technical skills training for a specific career

University - Programs provide theoretical and some practical training. Main areas of focus at most universities:

- STEM: Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics
- Business/Commerce
- Arts/Humanities/Social Sciences
- Fine Arts
