BLACK HISTORY MONTH

We'd like to take some time to reflect on and celebrate the contributions of the Black community to the fields of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM). Stem Minds has written a blog post highlighting five impactful Black scientists who have made significant contributions in their respective fields.

- George Washington Carver
- Euphemia Lofton Haynes
- Mark Dean
- Gladys West
- Mae C. Jemison

Learn more about these incredible scientists and engineers at <https://stemminds.com/black-history-month-2021/>

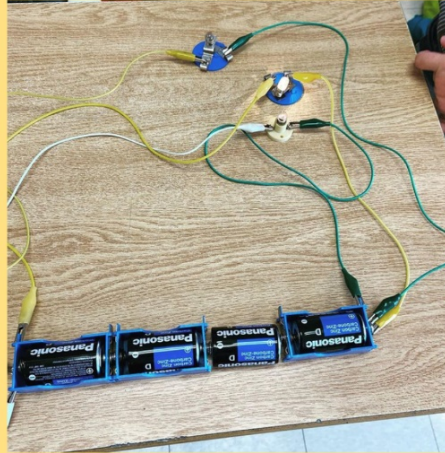

This resource highlights the contributions of Black Canadians past and present in various categories. I'm confused

The worst part of online learning was that I had to keep asking a lot of internet questions.

The worst part about online learning was that we had to look at the screen & learn every weekend.

What I liked most about online school was that we had to look at the screen & learn every weekend.

online learning

What I liked most is that we can do it together and do projects together.

Julian

What I like the best about online learning is that I can see my friends every week.

What I like the best about online learning is you can play with your friends and your in front of a screen all day.

One thing I didn't like about online learning was... not playing with my friends because of Covid-19.

What I like about online learning is typing in the comments.

What I like about online learning is I get a one hour break when it's lunch.

What I like about online learning is going into breakout rooms.

The best thing of online school is I don't have to get dressed for outside every day!

The worst thing of online school is that there is sooo many difficulties!
