Pause to Ponder...

HELP YOUR CHILD FEEL GOOD ABOUT THEMSELF

A healthy body image can contribute to higher self-esteem in children which often leads to healthier and more positive life choices. Help your child have a positive body image by:

Being a positive role model yourself. Be aware of the messages you convey about your own body and the comments you make about the appearance of others. If children hear adults express dissatisfaction with their bodies, they may place inappropriate importance on physical appearance and think that being an adult means being unhappy with your body.

Banish teasing. Teach children that judging people about their weight or looks is unacceptable.

Encourage kids to focus on their abilities rather than their appearance. Help them focus on things they are good at – talk about their "insides" rather than their "outsides".
