Ten Tips To Prepare for Exams

With the secondary school exam period beginning, here are 10 tips to help students prepare for exams and manage stress:

1. Eat healthy, drink water and get plenty of sleep.
2. Take mind and body breaks. Schedule blocks of time for rest and activities that bring you joy. This could be exercise, time outside, extra-curricular activities, connecting with others or enjoying hobbies.
3. Maintain social connections and know who you can reach out to for support, including friends, family and school staff.
4. Create a realistic study plan. Schedule dedicated blocks of time without distractions.
5. There are lots of different ways to study. Use study techniques and exam preparation strategies that work for you.
6. Create a space for studying that works best for you.
7. Mental health and well-being is important. For students who feel anxious, there are lots of strategies to help you stay calm before, during and after exams. This could include mindfulness strategies, visualization, breathing exercises, positive thinking and more.
8. On the day of the exam, arrive early, review all the questions before you begin and read each question carefully.
9. Try different strategies and techniques to learn what works for you, and ask for help or support if you need it.
10. Practice positive and affirming self-talk before, during and after the exam, for example, "I am doing my best, I have got this, I am proud of myself/my studying, etc."

Please share widely with students and educators within your school board so we can reach as many Black students as possible who are interested in post-secondary education and are in need of financial support.

Yearbook Updates

Due to printing errors, Unionville High School’s 2023/24 Yearbook has been recalled. All students who have received a yearbook are asked to label it with their name and return it to the main office by the morning of Monday, June 17, 2024. Our intention is to distribute yearbooks, to those who have purchased them, by the end of this school year.

Today, in homeroom classes, students who purchased the yearbook received blank booklets. These blank booklets provide students with additional yearbook pages for signatures and messages to be captured and kept as future memories. Once the yearbook has been returned to students, these pages may be adhered to the book seamlessly.

We thank you for your patience and cooperation,

Your UHS Administrative Team
